

RELIGIOUS REVIVAL TO STIR THE CITY

Great Meetings Planned for Madison Square Garden and Carnegie Lyceum.

MINISTERS IN IT.

Evangelistic Workers Have Been Engaged to Aid in Conducting Services.

TO RAISE THE MORAL TONE.

Things Sought to Be Accomplished Are to Increase the Church Membership and Attendance.

New York is to be stirred out of its morale and moral lethargy during the next few weeks by a series of revival meetings to be held in Madison Square Garden and Carnegie Lyceum, on a scale which has never been attempted in this country.

An Ecumenical Committee of One hundred, made up of ministers of all denominations, has been formed to plan the revival, and the services of every evangelistic worker in the country will be secured. From England and Scotland, too, Presbyterian and Baptist workers are coming to help reclaim New York from the slough in which the ministers say it has fallen, and in which the revival is the only hope.

The Rev. Dr. Pentecost said today:
"It is in the power of the revival movement to do all in my power to help it along. All the clergymen who were at the meeting last Tuesday agreed that the committee of New York must be reformed and at once. I doubt if this great city was ever so wicked as it is today."

The Rev. Cornelius Woolsten, of the 16th Avenue Baptist Church, in Brooklyn, who is one of the leaders of the movement, said today:

"If the proper spirit is injected into this great revival it cannot fail to accomplish its purpose. We must go into the heart of the city and sweep the filth out. All our people seem to care for is their pleasures. It must stop. We must reconvert interest in church and cleanliness of life. Everybody engaged in the movement is sincere and ready to work hard, and I do not see how we can fail."

Warren meant by this that the revivalists are going to the New York city in old-fashioned camp-meeting style and that there is to be a stirring of human emotions, which is expected to bring about a reformation of the city.
Interest once more in general church and missionary work. From the pulpits the eloquence of the country is to be sounded, while the big meetings to be held in the Garden and other places which are easy of access.

There is nothing suggestive of the Dwight Lusk revival in this movement. No one denomination is to dominate and converts are sought only to the general cause of Christianity. The revivalists admit that New Yorkers are hard lot to instill fervid religion into, but they will have the best men in the world to conduct the work and are hopeful that many will be converted.

At a private meeting of ministers held last Tuesday in Calvary Church, the plans for the revival were made. Over two hundred ministers gathered at the church at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning, and it was 4 o'clock in the afternoon before they got home. There were leaders of every denomination present.

It was at that gathering, many of them who have never before lent their aid to projects for the more appealing forces of religious revival. They decided that what New York needed was a thorough awakening to its sinful state and that the only way to achieve this was by a revival.

At the time of the meeting, many of the ministers were not so much interested in the revival of crime that has swept over the city as in police corruption and general demoralization. What they needed was the most obvious sign of revival in the waiting interests that New Yorkers are showing in matters relating to a condition which they say is the cause of the falling off of attendance at the churches and the tendency toward seeking for pleasure alone.

to accomplish this result was to whom things up in revival meetings.
At the head of the meeting at Calvary was the Rev. Henry Marsh Warren, who is known as the hotel physician because he confines his religious work to the hotels of New York. Associated with him in the meeting were Dr. Mac-Arthur, the pastor of the church; the Rev. Dr. Holloway, the Rev. Dr. George Pentecost, the Rev. Dr. J. Adams, the Rev. H. Schwarzkopf, the Rev. Dr.
Borwick, the Rev. Dr. Woolsten and the Rev. Dr. James Hughes. There were many other ministers of equal prominence present.

Dr. Warren was asked to-day about the plans of the Ecumenical Committee. He said:
"It is obvious to every minister in New York that church attendance has fallen off. We have difficulty in getting people to come to church at all, and the women of our flocks are worse than the men. There is an increasing tendency to seek pleasure alone in this life, and this self-indulgence has crowded out the church and made people forget their religious duties."

Conditions Are Terrible.
"The conditions at present are really terrible. We don't know just who to blame for it, but we know that an effort must be made to reach the ef-fairs, and so we have undertaken to stir this city up by a revival service.
We believe that a great reform can be brought about in this way. We believe if the proper men stand up and point out to our indifferent New Yorkers the mistake they are making in subordinating their religion to their pleasures, they will reap great results. At any rate, we propose to try it."

In my duties about the hotels I have had a chance to see how entirely the people are giving themselves over to pleasure. It has got so that there is no longer a Sunday for New Yorkers.
We want a Sabbath that shall be a Sabbath, and that shall be a day when people up we cannot get it. We want no more wide-open Sundays and we want an enforcement of the Sunday law on the streets of New York. We want the Rialto law hotels closed and such dens kept closed. We are aiming at the consciousness of the people, creating no one for the conditions that prevail, but trying to improve them. And we believe we will be successful."

Pastors Favor Movement.

MIGHTY MAN WAS THIS ASSYRIAN

At the Ball of His Race Held at Murray Hill Lyceum William Kenham Fought Off Legions of Attackers.

POLICEMAN LOST ONE OF HIS THUMBS.

Committee Called in Patrolman Angus Beaton to Put Man
Out—In the Struggle Kenham Was Badly Bitten.

Many of the guests at the Assyrian ball, at the Murray Hill Lyceum, Thirty-fourth street and Third avenue, were knocked down early to-day, and others fled from the hall in panic when William Kenham, 6 foot 4 in height, of powerful build, and an athlete every inch, decided that offense had been offered him.

There are those who say that the giant Assyrian had been drinking. There are others who credit the theory that he was temporarily mad because of jealousy. Kenham entered the hall after the midnight hour. All about him there was jollification, and this seemed to arouse his anger and put fighting in his blood. He became abusive to several men, and a committee was appointed to ask him to leave the hall or keep quiet. This committee was appointed because the Assyrians of New York know what sort of fighting stuff Kenham is made of.

The spokesman was met with a sharp punch that sent him to the floor as though a pile-driver had struck him.
Then each member of the committee went down in succession as the big Assyrian continued to swing his long arms.

More men came to the assistance of the fallen. They met a like fate. Ken-ham, with his back to a wall, called for them to "Come one, come all!" Some one cried "Police!" as the women fled to other parts of the Lyceum or to the streets. The wall was answered by Jaco Posner, a special watchman.
Posner, armed with a club, was hurled about as though he were a child and pitched unconscious into a corner.

Then came Policeman Angus Beaton, of the East Thirty-fifth street station, a muscular man and a fighter. Beaton, with club raised, attacked Kenham. The two men closed in each other's grasp.
They rolled about the floor, the policeman using his club and fists and the Assyrian using his fists and teeth. They rolled down the stairs to the street, and then the Assyrian closed with the police officer. The police man's thumb and held tight. With a cry of pain the officer began beating the Assyrian in the head with his free hand. He swung his club many times, but not until Kenham was unconscious did his jaws relax. Then he had bitten the policeman's thumb off.

An ambulance from Bellevue Hospital took both men there. The Assyrian had scores of cuts and bruises about the face and body.

Kenham was taken to the hospital and is now in a serious condition. He is expected to recover, but his thumb will never be replaced. The police department is now looking for the Assyrian, who is believed to have fled from the scene of the fight.
